

KALEIDOSCOPE 1974

kaleidoscope

kaleidoscope

ka-lei'do-scope
(kə-li'də-skōp), n.

- 1 A constantly changing set of colors.
- 2 A series of changing phases or events.

Like the images of the Kaleidoscope, our years at J.F.K. have been both ever-changing and filled with color. Classroom memories are marked by fun and frustration. The dances and basketball games found us enjoying another facet of school life. Those who shared in the production of a musical program or play took away happy times and rich experiences. The Student Council gave some a new found responsibility. The athletic games were yet another proving ground for J.F.K. students.

Three years at Kennedy are recorded here, a Kaleidoscope of activity. Each in its way has been a part of our development.

We the 9th grade class of '74' being of brilliant minds and beautiful bodies leave to those who are remaining behind these mementoes:

I, Jim McCoy leave my soccer number (3) to Jim Mager.

I, Kathy Miville, leave my sister, Linda my gym locker #833, with the hopes that she can fit more in it than I was able to.

We the Varsity Cheerleaders, leave to Mr. Arnold and Mr. Keller a pair of earplugs and blinders.

I, Paul Lasewicz, leave to Kevin Hart all the single mittens I can find.

I, Joyce Edwards, leave my sister Janine my brains and good behavior.

I, Greg Doray leave to Miss Petise my dirty rabbit ears.

I, Lee Chambers, leave to Miss Nartowicz 2 dozen more cats-on-drugs- stories to read in her spare time.

We, Janice Carney and Lee Chambers, leave to Mr. Bell one free push down Town Farm Hill to get back at the rat.

We, Michele Mager and Sandy Albee, leave to Miss Nealon two helpers 5th period.

I, Lynn Fregeau leave everyone my beautiful body.

To the school nurse from all us headache-stricken scholars, her first bottle of a new wonder drug called Aspirin

I, Tim Smyth, leave my patience to any 8th grade boy who thinks being the manager of the football team is an easy job.

We, Manina Gil, and Donna Fisher leave Mr. Benson's next year's classes all our interruptions, giggles, jokes and detentions!

I, Mamina Gil, leave the dollar I won for not talking for a whole period to Mr. Benson.

I Linda Bachetti, leave to my sister Terry all the good times I had at J.F.K.

I, Mark George, Leave Mr. Sweet my Alice Cooper albums.

We, George Schober and Bill Taksar, leave Mrs. Lewis 4 million Dracula projects and a vampire to go with it.

I, Lee Disbro, leave Mr. Citron a pen holder for his ear and a tie tack to keep his tie straight.

We, Sheila McLaughlin, Sherri Peterson and Kathy Hall, leave to Mr. Andy a new recording of "Angie" by the Rolling "Stones".

I, Michele Little, leave any 7th graders without freckles mine, and good luck with them.

We, Chris Fahy, Donna Chamberlain and Carol Custer leave J.F.K. with great pleasure.

We, Mike Gillen, Pete Handley, Nick Smith leave Michael Deschenes the book "I Love Myself".

We, the "73-74" Kennedy Football Team leave our good coordination to next year's football team.

I, Cindy Green, leave to my sister Laurie lots of luck in gymnastics and cheerleading.

We, Cathy Miville and Cindy Baer, leave to Mr. LaFlamme one stick of Juicy Fruit gum, that we ripped off between classes on January 21, 1974.

I, Ann Kweder, leave my nickname "Annie Fannie" to Mr. Arnold.

We, Kathy Miville and Cathy Diel leave Mr. Bell's mystery stories class, still wondering "who dun it."

I, Donna Albetski, leave my Drum Majorette baton to Heidi Climan in hopes she doesn't learn everything the way I did - the hard way.

I, Mark Cutler, leave my friend Mike Gill my slide bar.

I, Karen Piotrowski leave every spider on school grounds to attack Mr. Girard.

I, Janice Carney, leave to Mrs. Fournier all my curls in the hopes that someone will tease her as unmercifully as she teased me.

We, Cathy Fiori and Sharon Wielgos, leave one bag of butterscotch candies and a handful of wrappers to the lady in Blue House office and Mr. Sampson. May they chew them heartily.

I, Barb Fisher, leave my brother Pete and Joe Morris my shop glasses #17.

I, Terry Thomas, leave my friend

Norris Rabb a pick to comb his hair.

We, Ann Kweder and Steve Ziter, leave all the fun and good times we had together at Kennedy.

I, Linda Hoyt, leave my basketball uniform to Doreen Staveski.

We, Kathy Hall, Sherri Peterson and Lee Chambers leave Mr. Straub our Polish jokes.

We, Lisa Cote and Jill Schollard leave Mrs. Wain a pair of high platforms.

I, Alan Rotatori, leave my hockey shirt to Jim Mulligan.

We Donna and Barbara Fisher, leave our brother, Peter, all the fun and enjoyment we had at Kennedy.

I, Carol Crowley, leave Mr. Neville my floppy white hat to remind him of me.

We the Ski Club members leave Mr. LaFlamme free lessons, how to ski Mt. Tom.

I, Mark Sullivan, leave information on how to skip school for anyone who wants it.

We, Sue Jameson, Michelle Mager and Paula Dumais leave Mr. Climan our clarinets.

We, Joanne Maznicki and Jan Moriarty leave Mrs. Towers all our excuses for being late to homeroom.

I, Tracy Dobrozensky, leave Mr. Andy a can of Campbells Soup.

I, Elizabeth St. George, leave Miss Wynglarz a deflated basketball.

We, Lori Bride and Linda Johnson leave Mr. Charland a new stamping machine.

I Sheila McLaughlin leave Kathy Bousquet to my brother Courtney.

I, Matt Morneault leave to Mr. Perrotti the book "How to Play Chess".

We, Jackie Robbins and Karen Rittlinger, leave Miss Nealon all our excuses for not taking gym.

I, Lori Bride, leave my brother, David, all my history notes just in case he gets Mr. Barmak.

We, Kelly Tarr and Lori Courville, leave our thanks to the school nurse for all the candy she gave us for "our sore throats".

I, Carol Crowley, leave Miss Petise my Donald Duck voice.

We Cathy Croce and Sharon Giordano, leave to next year's ski club fun and lots of luck on the slopes.

I, Kim Arena leave my brother Tommy a big hug and kiss in the halls.

Miss Wynglarz still wondering how I got dressed in three minutes.

We, Cathy Croce and Roxanne Guerriero, leave all our "Adios and Hasta la vistas" to Miss Acito.

I, Joe Cote, leave Danny Keegan my number 1 soccer uniform.

I Bill Maznicki leave my nephew Peter my ability to handle the chicks.

We, Miss MacArthur and Mrs. Custer, leave the yearbook to Mr. Perrotti.

We, Linda Ruel and Ann Kweder, leave to next years varsity cheerleading captains a bottle of anacin.

I Steve Ziter leave to Mike Deceshenes my favorite pencil thats always on my ear.

We, Sandy Albee, Michelle Mager, Tim Kelley, Mark Sullivan, Bill Maznicki, Pete Handley and Ken Grout leave peace and quiet to Mrs. Spaderna.

I, Ann Kweder, leave my red hair and blushing face to Mr. Andy.

We the members of the soccer team leave Mr. Clarkin a life size poster of King Tobi of Nairobi.

I, Cathy Diel leave

CLASS PROPHECY

Ten years have passed in Enfield as we, the 9th grade class of 1974, board the 747 Superjet, on lease to Bill Trotta and John Thompson, Presidential candidates for 1984. We are enroute to a rock concert to raise funds for the upcoming election. We are greeted by stewardesses Minina Gil and Sharon Dubois. Our pilot Mark Wells comes out to greet us as we are seated by Marita Havens and Karen Belanger.

We have heard from weather man Steven Delarge that the weather will be fine for flying. As we look around we see such well-known basketball stars as Tom Flower, Wayne Abraham, Tim Kelley, and Brian King. Also on board Nancy Clark, belly dancer, with her manager Joe Cote.

Over toward the end of the plane we see Peace Corps workers, Paula Kot, Pat McMahon and Sally Garyey, talking with actor Steve Cunningham and physical therapist Andrea Bellida. Nurses, Marion Pazik and Sandy Albee, join in the conversation as distinguished lawyers, Tom Vella and Ed Cichon with their secretaries Connie Bogardus and Gail Iacolino, walk down the aisle. As we look toward the front of the plane we see old friends, Jackie Kostyk, Roberta Rella and Carol Custer, discussing their travels with Ray Mathieu, Kelly Tarr and Debbie Teske. Veterinarians, Sharon O'Coin, Cathy Kurley, Lisa Cote and Kim Arena say "hello".

We notice problems ahead as we discover Mark Sullivan on probation from Somers Correctional Institute having convulsions as nurses, Liz Crowell, Liz Strickland and cellmate Tom Wilson, (also on probation) try to hold him down. Doctors, Jeanne Masse and Beth Ferriera calm him with the help of Mary Valuckas and Denise Masse. As we walk down the aisle, we see smiling Cathy Biel just back from Wimbledon where she has finally beaten rivals, Sue Wadman and Linda Ruel at tennis. Toward the center of the plane, we can hear stewardess Cindy Green singing "Happy Birthday" to Nancy Sellers, Linda Bachetti, Donna Soucy, Cindy Pitts and Jackie Robbins all celebrating their 25th birthdays. Over the loud speaker the pilot announces that we are now landing, and we must sit down and fasten our seat belts.

We have landed in multi-millionaire Bob Drzewiecki's backyard. He and farm girl Susette London welcome us. Scott Leonard complete with shovel, say "hello" as he cleans up the pollution in the yard and Lee Chambers comes through the yard after panhandling in Los Angeles for ten years. As we seat ourselves on the lawn, musicians, Frank Gawle, Dennis Gibbs, Debbie Sombric and Paul Surapine are tuning up for the concert.

We see disc jockey Mark Mooney looking over the songs; he is tonight's announcer. Mark Guimond, electrician, fixes a malfunctioning amplifier as he eyes models Dawn Sidway, Michelle Little and Linda Keyes, walking with Mike Perillo, Chris Paulin, Tim Brennen and Mark Perreault.

Don Michaud, Val Baker, Ellen McWha, Sheila McLaughlin and Natalie McGhie look as though they are having fun while servicemen Tom Allen, Brian Poliks, Patrick Carifa, and Mike Pate talk with Chuck Hudon and B-1 bomber fighter Ken Kula. We spot Dave Parker with social worker Elizabeth St. George and U.N. interpreter Louise Dubois. We ask him how things are in Nairobi. Oceanographers, Dave Newsam, Fay Miller and Rick Gaskell with scuba equipment are sitting down next to gym teachers Jan Moriarty, Joanne Maznicki, Linda Diorio, Paula Dumais, Elaine Couzelis. They look disbelievingly at Bill Taksar, Ken Grout, Steve Weiss, Mike Susi, Rick Starzyk and Bruce Chesworth, pro sports players, who are listening to the baseball game results. Joe Reynolds hits another home run while Danny Levesque's team tries desperately to strike him out.

Skiers Roxanne Guerriero, Cathy Croce and Tom Stankiewicz come over to listen as a crowd gathers on the lawn in front of them, it seems as though Roy Deschenes and Terry Thomas, along with George Ouellette and Pete Courtois were into a small game of football when Pete Handley, who was also playing got hurt. Muriel Lemek, Barbara Flanagan and Kim Ostrander run over to look - nothing serious. They return to the medical tent to report to Ester Marturano and Wendy Baldwin that the accident was minor.

As Cheryl Boisjolie and Kathy Buttafuco join us, Jeff Widun, Norma Miller, Kevin Keleher and Geri Walton talking about their travels with Debbie Childs, Lynn Lombardi, Marjorie Davis and Kathy Hall.

Down at the pits, we have Kim Morrell, Dan Healy, Mark Smith, Mike Ayotte, and Bob Kranz ready to race their vehicles. Standing close by, ready to assist in any technical problems are mechanics Tim Hogan, Lee Disbro, Lori Lagasse, Joyce Edwards, Jan Krzanowski, Pete Costas, Ken Mercik, Henry Beaudry, Christopher Lee and Herbert Henzel.

Rick Flaherty is here to take pictures of the performing artists.

Cheryl Usher, Cindy Coope and Patricia Caye can take the credit for set design.

Elementary school teachers Cindy Prentiss, Cindy Baer, Sue Gagnon, Jeanine Folger, Donna Albetski and Judy Daigle have been busy with scissors and paste constructing name tags for the returning alumni.

In fact, Mary Ann Czarnecki, Amy Van Horn, Chris Biagetti, Diane Farley, John Alexander, Patti Anderson, Karen Dion, Pamela Buck, Debbie Bessette, and Mary Frey have left their families for the occasion.

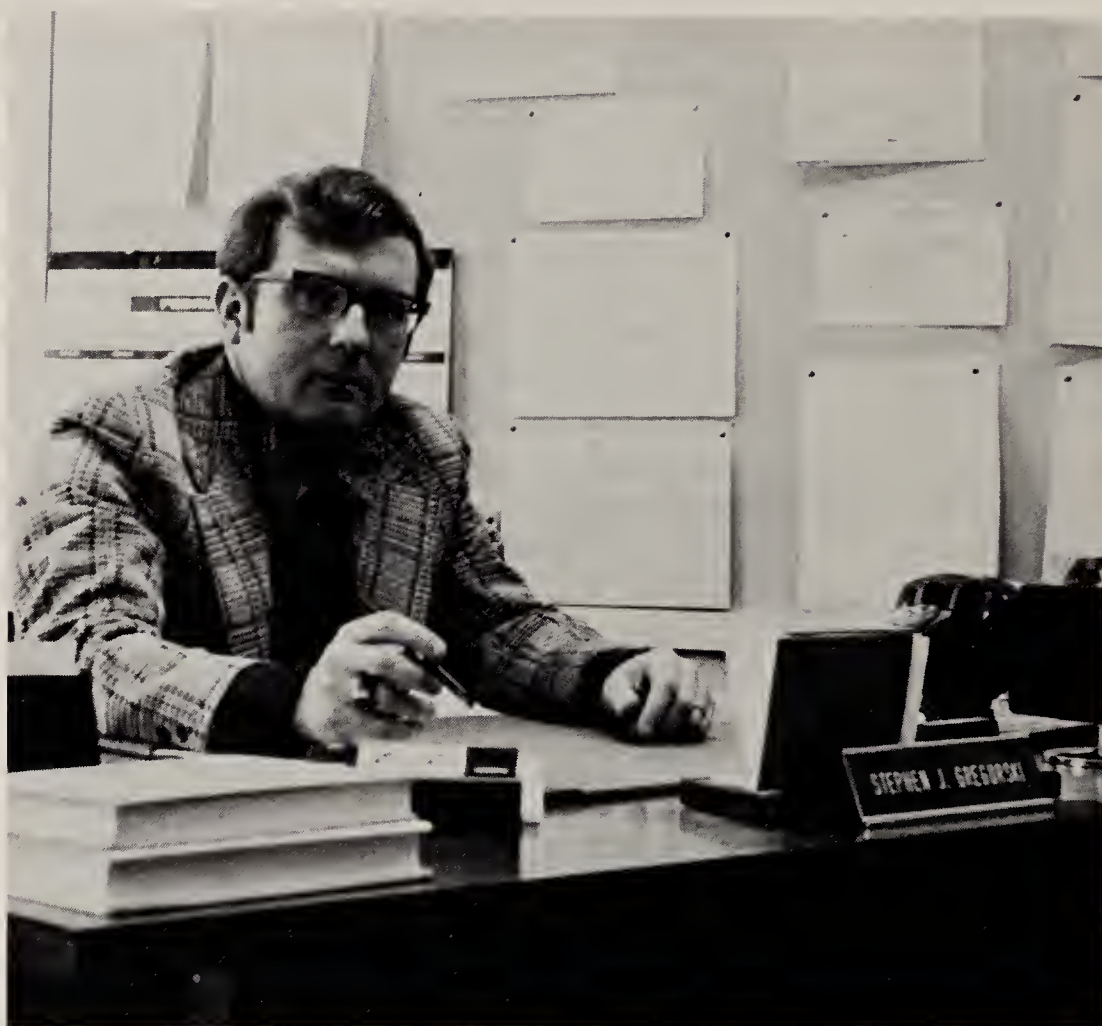

Because of the large, positive response to our benefit Rock Concert, Linda Johnson and Brian Crawford were called in to set up a computer to handle the reservations. However, when those circuits overloaded, secretaries, Diane Derosiers, Terry Lasher, Joyce Friedrich, Terry Rossi, Doleen Burnham and Sandy Smith, offered their services to help keep things running smoothly.

Former year book staff members, Robin Lynes, Sharon Wielgos and Karen Piotrowski, volunteering their services to the Journal Inquirer for coverage of this fantastic event, are now wrapping up the story for the early evening edition. Thus another class prophecy has come to an end.
